BLOODSHED IN BRITISH INDIA

Mutineers Attempt to Cut the Lines of Communication of General Willcox.

FIERCE BATTLE RESULTS

LORD KITCHENER HURRYING TO THE SCENE.

Simla, April 24.—In consequence of an attempt made by the Mohmand tribesmen to cut his lines of communication, Sir James Willcox, the commander of the British forces sent out from Peshawar against the raiding natives, attacked the enemy this morning with two columns, comprising all his available troops.

After a sharp fight the British troops dislodged the tribesmen. The British casualties are given as sixty. The Mohmand losses are unknown.

A later dispatch received here from Peshawar says:

"The Matta was attacked last night, but the enemy was repulsed. There was heavy artillery firing today at Shabakad, and General Anderson's brigade fought a big engagement. Our casualties numbered sixty-two, including several British officers."

Lord Minto, viceroy of India, and Lord Kitchener, commander-in-chief of the British forces in India, will arrive here tomorrow and the British will assume the offensive as quickly as possible.

Sir James Willcox has control of 10,000 troops, comprising three brigades, two of which are concentrating on the border, the third being held in reserve at Peshawar.

Desultory fighting is reported all along the line, fifteen miles, from Michni on the Kabul river to the Abazai on the Swat river. Major General Willcox's center rests on Shabakad fort.

Cannot Last Long.

London, April 24.—The government has been informed of the gravity of the Mohmand mutiny in India, and it is believed that it will be soon suppressed. Lord Kitchener has made a timely disposition of his forces. The worst aspect of the situation is seen in the apparent complicity of the ameer, which is regarded as some quarters as an outcome of the recently concluded Anglo-Russian compact, which leaves Afghanistan free as a buffer state from either British or Russian agents.

The ameer's attitude is considered to be less due, however, to any real feeling against Great Britain than to his indifference to the assistance the Afghans are rendering the fanatical tribes by supplying them with arms, ammunition, etc.

The frontier of this region has never been delimited. Part of the Mohmands country lies within the Afghan boundary and part in British India. This also may account for the assistance being rendered to the tribesmen by the Afghans.

NIGHT PROWLERS PERSIST

Repeated Visits Are Paid to Premises of Dr. A. A. Kerr on East First South.

Persistent night prowlers have caused a great deal of uneasiness at the residence of Dr. A. A. Kerr of 734 East First South street.

Dr. Kerr's house was visited by thieves twice during the past week and three times during the past six weeks.

Six weeks ago burglars forced their way into the kitchen of the house. They were frightened away before they had succeeded in opening the door which leads from the kitchen to the other parts of the residence. The next morning marks of a jimmy upon the door showed how the prowlers had labored to get into the interior of the house. Nothing was taken from the kitchen. This indicated that the thieves were after more valuable plunder than food and cooking utensils.

Last Tuesday night the chicken house in the rear of the Kerr place was visited and a hen was stolen. The noise made by the startled poultry awakened the family and the thieves ran away.

Prowlers were on the premises again on Wednesday night. On Thursday morning a key was found in the wash house door. The prowlers had attempted to open the door with the key. It became fastened in the lock. The thieves were unable to withdraw it and apparently abandoned the attempt to enter the place.

Frank A. Munsey on the Business and Political Situation

IN the May Number of Munsey's Magazine, Mr. Munsey has an article on the panic and the causes that brought it about. He says some things and says them straight from the shoulder. He hands it out good and hard to Wall Street and to the Grand Dukes who have been running things in this country with a high hand—running them as the Grand Dukes of Russia have run things over there. The title of the article is—

There isn't money enough in the world today to do the world's work

Mr. Munsey takes emphatic issue with Wall Street and the followers of Wall Street who hold the President responsible for the panic. It is not his purpose in the discussion to acquit Mr. Roosevelt of blame, but rather to get at the facts, as the facts are necessary to intelligent progress in the recovery of our business activities.

"If these facts," Mr. Munsey says, "acquit the President, he is, as a matter of common honesty, entitled to the acquittal." What we want to know, and should know, is the truth. And the basic purpose with Mr. Munsey has been to lay bare the truth.

Mr. Munsey in this article clears away a vast amount of the distorted and awfully befogged ideas about this financial crash. The article is clear, convincing, forceful. It is not a dry, ponderous handling of the subject, but is swift and dramatic in expression, with all the sweep and picturesqueness of a novel. You cannot afford to miss reading it. No one who has any interest in the vital things of the day can afford to miss reading it.
